Water Update 8/22/2022

A boil water notice is required to be put into effect when system pressure drops below 20 PSI. We issued the boil notice on Friday morning, 8/19/2022 when the pressure dropped to this point. The pressure dropped due to an issue at the well and major water main leaks on Ave K and 6th street. Once the issue at the well and leaks were resolved, the pressure had to return back into compliance, stabilize and allow chlorinated water to flush through the system. We did not reach this threshold on Friday before the labs closed for the weekend. Samples were taken first thing Monday 8/22/2022 morning and dropped off at the lab. The test results are expected back Tuesday 8/23/2022. Until that time, you should continue to boil your water for consumption and drinking. As soon as we receive the test results, we will send an update.
